„Intense pressure erupting into a storm of dark, chaotic thoughts, leading to endless despair. A melancholic atmosphere captured in a semi-realistic style with strong attention to detail.”

Not quite the output i was hoping for, so i rephrased the prompt.

„A mind collapsing under unbearable pressure, thoughts shattering into an ocean of darkness and despair. Melancholic and haunting, rendered in a semi-realistic style with intricate details.”

this is more of what i was waiting for, but it is still missing a few details for example the spiraling skys are unused standing as is.

„A mind crushed beneath unbearable pressure, thoughts shattering into a vast ocean of darkness and despair, drawn upward through a storming vortex of clouds. From the eyes flow dark, viscous tears, each drop reflecting sorrowful human faces trapped within. A melancholic, haunting vision rendered in a semi-realistic style with delicate, intricate detail.”

this a fine outcome but the shape of the head is too smooth while it's falling apart.

„A sideways-turned head, the mind crushed beneath unbearable pressure, thoughts shattering into a vast ocean of darkness and despair, drawn upward through a storming vortex of clouds. Along the fractures within the head, faint white luminous light glows, symbolizing the remnants of the soul within the breaking mind. From the single visible eye, small drops of dark tears flow, each drop reflecting sorrowful human faces trapped inside. The breaking shards of the head reveal sorrowful, frightened, and depressed faces, all being pulled upward toward the swirling spiral that ultimately consumes them. The focus should be on the face, illuminated against a darker surrounding background, enhancing the contrast and emotional intensity. A melancholic and haunting vision, rendered in a semi-realistic style with delicate, intricate details.”

This will be the final version.
